"In vino veritas"

Gianni Gagliardo Barolo Classico DOCG 2012

Gagliardo's exceptional Barolo come from many small plots which are each vinified separately in order to respect the difference in soil and microclimate. Extreme care is given to ensure that very little mechanical management is required, gravity is used to convey the grapes into the cellar, the wines ferment naturally without the addition of yeast and the wines are not filtered – they are clarified and stabilised naturally by the winter cold.

Gagliardo Barolo are a pure expression of the "king of grapes," a study in terroir and in the practice of minimum intervention.

2012 Gianni Gagliardo Barolo Classico DOCG - 92, James Suckling

A blend of grapes from the Gagliardo vineyards, the combination of soils imparts a subtle and expressive character even when young, with excellent aging potential.

Soft and silky Barolo with cedar, almond and ripe strawberry aromas and flavours. Full body. Pretty, chewy texture and a long and flavourful finish. Very well done for the vintage.
